

"It is distressing for me to repeat it: the clergy is still the big danger, the stumbling block of scandal for the poor flock . . . The lie is triumphing in our end of times. People do not want the truth anymore."

— Our Lady at La Salette, to Melanie Calvat.

Understanding Your Jewish Masters

By FRED FARREL

The best way to understand Jews is to watch an anthill. An anthill is Communism perfected. Aesop's fable tells us that ants are a provident lot, while grasshoppers are wastrels. The anthill is provident, tightly organized, and totally instinctive in its social discipline. The ant is the perfect automaton. He cannot possibly have much in the way of intellect, but his social instincts are powerful indeed. Every Jewish Ghetto is a human anthill. The social instincts which dominate the Jew originated in the Middle East in the five centuries before the birth of Christ. The Jews were only one of several races which developed in this fashion. Already, five centuries before the birth of Christ, there was developing the ghetto-pattern of life typical to this day of the Jews of Brooklyn or the Parsees of Bombay. The Golden Ghetto around the Central Park in New York is simply a golden anthill. The Jew is wholly a creature of social instinct which dehumanizes him. He is a two-legged ant. This fate is not inescapable; a Jew can liberate himself from it easily enough, and thus become a bonafide human; but in order to liberate himself, he must quit being a Jew. He must leave the safe, well-organized anthill and strike out on his own as a solitary creature. The prospect frightens most of them, so that they remain within the fold.

The worst possible way to understand Jews is to listen to some Goy preacher bray about "The Chosen People." When the typical Goy preacher sounds off about Jews, he is talking about a subject of which he knows nothing; in consequence, he utters nonsense. He knows his Old Testament abstractions well enough; he simply knows nothing about real Jews. When he displays his ignorance in sermons about "The Chosen People," he is simply adding to the world's store of wonderful nonsense. The Jews themselves steadfastly refuse to have anything to do with the business of being "Chosen." They also do not even know what the word "Messiah" means to a Christian. "The Chosen People" are a figment of the Christian imagination. The Jews themselves want absolutely nothing to do with the business of being "Chosen" in the sense envisioned by Christians. They may readily enough accept whatever advantages may accrue to them from this Christian delusion; but they will accept none of the liabilities or obligations which go with being "Chosen." The Christian clergyman needs "The Chosen People" to complete his own theological system, so he simply creates the delusion that they exist. In this illusory picture, the Jews are seen as being "The People of the Old Testament." Nothing is missing from them except that they have not yet accepted Christ; and this they are foredoomed to do when they have been gathered back to the "Holy Land."

The Rev. A. C. Forest has recently published in Canada a book entitled THE

SATAN'S ANTHILL

The end result of civilization built by the Jewish anthill society.

UNHOLY LAND. Don't rush up to Canada to buy a copy, though. The Jews so much disliked the book that they forced it out of every bookstore in Canada, and copies of it are now being bootlegged. The Rev. Forest visited the so-called "Holy Land" with the typical illusions of a Christian minister in his head. He says in his book, "I had inherited some of these notions from my Church and Sunday School. To me the Holy Land was so romantic that I was rather startled when I first heard an outboard motor on the Sea of Galilee and somewhat offended when I saw young people skiing on its sacred waters. I was even shocked by seeing a prison in Israel — and by learning that many Israeli Jews did not believe in God."

If Protestant preachers of the old Puritan-Fundamentalist school ran the Holy Land, there would be no such nonsense as water-skiing on the sacred waters where Jesus once walked upon the waves. If these old-time Goy preachers ran the so-called "Holy Land" they would turn it into a religious museum, and it would be Sunday seven days a week. In fact, Israel is run by practical, down-to-earth Jews Who know well the value of a fast buck.

In his book THE UNHOLY LAND, A.C. Forest tells of his disillusionment. He says, "When I was forced that summer to do my homework and discovered how different the true story was from what I had heard and read in the West, I felt betrayed by the newspapers and broadcast media I had trusted. I still feel betrayed when I read the editorials, letters to the editor, and some of the news dispatches in my daily newspapers, or listen to a fundamentalist preacher explain, after he has had a free guided tour of Israel, how it was God's will for Israel to take Palestine."

Certainly we have no shortage of preachers running about the U.S.A. today spouting nonsense about "The Chosen People" and "God's Will in Palestine." The Jews not only give these preachers free tours of Israel; the ambitious preacher may also open a tour bureau and sell "Tours of the Holy Land" with profitable commissions for himself, not to mention increased revenues for the Israeli airline. Such a preacher simply advertises the fact that his pulpit is for sale. He is a theological prostitute. The preacher does not think in terms of the real Middle East. He lives in a world of illusion; he thinks in terms of the colored pictures which he saw in his old Bible when he was a child.

Let us say that there may well be chosen people in the world. Being genuinely "Chosen" or "Called" for a high spiritual mission is not at all a comfortable proposition. One is likely to be stoned, as all of the old prophets were. Ordinary, ape-like bipeds of the genus HOMO intensely dislike the "Chosen" person. He is always trying to get them to correct the profitable error of their merry wicked ways. Why can't he leave well enough alone? The "Chosen" person is not a materialist. He seeks the higher ethical and spiritual guidance of Mankind. This must be detached from all materialism. Christ said, "My Kingdom is not of this world." There can be no such thing as a "Holy Land." Holiness cannot be invested in a piece of Middle East real estate. Holiness is intangible, unprofitable, and unrewarded. The intensely materialistic modern Jews want nothing whatsoever to do with it. It is not exactly popular among modern so-called "Christians" either. The road which leads to salvation is a dim, narrow trail, so they say; modern so-called Jews and modern so-called Christians prefer the well-paved, brightly-lighted road which leads to perdition.

There are no important theological aspects to the Republic of Israel. The modern Jews are not a "Chosen" people, since they themselves have rejected such a role absolutely. If we are to understand the Jews, we must dismiss the typical Christian illusions about them. It is only when we have separated the Jew from these illusions that we can see him as he really is.

Let us go back to the anthill. The Jew is a natural-born Communist. Here I do not use the word "Communist" in the derogatory sense which has been built up by generations of phony anti-Communists in America. The Jew was a collectivist long before money-hungry charlatans made a profession of frightening the American Goy middle class with visions of "Radicals" hiding under every bed. Even 300 years before Christ was born, the Jewish Ghetto
